

The Commission of Human Wrongs - By Nigel Hanniford, Frontier Centre for Public Policy, Series No. 45, July 2008, 20 pages

This paper succinctly details the problems with the human rights commissions and tribunals. It examines the original purpose of the commissions, the importance of free speech to a open society, how HRC's threaten free speech, some examples of HRC injustices, and a concluding section urging the abolishment of the commissions. [Read the report here]